

Rick Keller

Rick, RN, CS, US Army Retired, has over 25 years of experience in mental health and 15 years of experience in disaster mental health and combat stress operations. He has lectured extensively around the world.

He has presented to the Central Intelligence Agency, Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy, US Army War College, Royal Marine Commando Training Center and the National Health Service Trust, Great Britain, to name a few.

He has consulted on disaster mental health issues to the Honduran Ministry of Health, Tacoma Washington Fire Department and the City of Pinehurst North Carolina in preparation for the US Open Golf tournament.

He has been published multiple times and is considered to be a subject matter expert on the psychological consequences of exposure to human remains and establishing and maintaining peer support programs for organizations working in hostile or harsh environments.

He recently served on two US Army Surgeon General task forces to assess and develop behavioral health issues for soldiers serving in Operation Iraq Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom.